Manager Commentary

Markets around the globe continued their buoyant start to the year, with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index proving no exception, adding +2.1% in April. EMEA was the strongest region in the month (+2.9%), followed by Asia (+1.8%), with Latam (+0.4%) continuing to be the largest drag. By sector, consumer discretionary (+4.0%) was the best performer, closely followed by communication services (+3.7%) and IT (+3.6%). At the other end of the scale, utilities (-1.3%), materials (-1.1%) and industrials (-0.6%) were the weakest performing sectors in the month.

A reaffirmation of long-term earnings guidance and positive comments from the CEO on the strength of residential demand helped boost the performance of Philippine developer Ayala Land during the month. South African retailer, Mr. Price, was also one of the larger contributors, with the share price recovering some of the ground that had been lost in March. Laser manufacturer, IPG Photonics, continued its strong performance on the expectation of a pick-up in growth in Chinese industrial output in the second half of the year.

On the negative side of the ledger, Samsonite was the largest detractor for the month, weighed down by concerns that geo-politics might disrupt travel volumes. Shares in Latam e-commerce company MercadoLibre paused for breath after a strong rally during the first quarter. In the case of Singaporean electronics manufacturer, Venture, the market chose to focus on conservative guidance for Q2 rather than positive longer-term forecasts from management.
