Manager Commentary

After the strong start to the year, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index paused for breath in February, rising 0.2% for the month. Asia (+1.7%) was the only region to register positive returns, with both EMEA (-2.2%) and Latam (-3.7%) down for the month. By sector, consumer discretionary (+4.7%) led the pack, followed by IT (+2.3%) and materials (+1.3%), whilst real estate (-2.7%), communications services (-2.3%) and consumer staples (-1.7%) were the weakest sectors in the month*.

Latam e-commerce company MercadoLibre was again one of the largest contributors to returns for the month after a well-received set of quarterly numbers highlighted their continued growth momentum. Yum China also had a good month following better-than-expected reported performance in their KFC division during the fourth quarter. Venture Corp continued its recovery, as the company delivered impressive cost control in its quarterly results and management flagged their expectation for continued order growth through 2019.

The largest detractor for the month was Indonesian retailer Matahari, which is facing pressure from online retail and concerns over its longer-term expansion potential. International Flavors & Fragrances was also weaker after the market reacted negatively to a marginally slower pace of growth in the fourth quarter for the newly-combined entity. South African retailer Mr Price saw a decline in its share price after management highlighted near-term pressures from a challenging economic environment.
