Manager Commentary

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index drifted upwards in March, rising +0.8% for the month in USD terms and taking its performance for the quarter to just shy of double digits (+9.9%). Just as in February, Asia (+1.8%) was the only region to register positive returns, with Latam again the largest drag (-2.5%) and EMEA somewhere in the middle (-1.4%). By sector, real estate (+7.6%) led the pack, buoyed by the more dovish tone from the Fed, followed by communication services (+2.9%) and consumer discretionary (+1.9%). Industrials (-1.7%), utilities (-1.4%) and financials (-1.0%) were the weakest performing sectors for the month.

Chinese online travel booking company Ctrip was one of the largest contributors to returns as the market reacted positively to a set of quarterly results which highlighted its ongoing growth potential and suggested positive future momentum for earnings. MercadoLibre was again one of the largest contributors with continued share price momentum following a $2bn fundraising, which we expect to help strengthen the company's competitive position. Indian bank HDFC also performed positively, boosted by optimism around the Indian government's more accommodative fiscal and monetary stance ahead of the upcoming general election.

Indonesian retailer Matahari was the largest detractor from performance for the month, after a disappointing set of quarterly results and ongoing concerns over additional competition from online retail. Mr Price also dragged on performance, hindered by an ongoing challenging economic environment. Chinese pharmaceutical distributor Sinopharm was also weak, with the market reacting negatively to its full year results.
