Manager Commentary

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index ended March with a decline of -15.4%, the weakest month for returns since October 2008, and bringing YTD Index performance to -23.6%, which is the biggest quarterly decline since Q4 2008. Latin America (-34.5%) and EMEA (-21.1%) saw the largest monthly declines in US dollar terms, with significant currency depreciation contributing to the losses. Emerging Asia (-11.7%) was a relative safe haven. All sectors were down for March, with the energy sector (-24.7%) losing almost a quarter of its value in a month when the oil price fell by more than 50%. The best performing sector was healthcare (-6.1%) reflecting its defensive properties and the need for increased healthcare spending the world over.

The biggest detractor from performance was HDFC Bank in light of growing concerns about India's economy as the country went into lockdown. Similarly, MercadoLibre's share price declined sharply during March as its major markets of Brazil, Argentina and Mexico all went into lockdown. China has succeeded in getting the virus transmission under control and a number of Chinese companies are beginning to talk about varying degrees of recovery in March compared to February. Dali Foods is one such company and it was one of the few positive contributors to performance during the month, thanks in part to the company's net cash position and the less discretionary nature of its products. A reminder that there is some light at the end of the tunnel.

The Morningstar Sustainability Rating™ is a measure of how well the portfolio holdings are managing their ESG Risk relative to the portfolio's Global Category peer group. Sustainalytics provides company-level analysis used in the calculation of Morningstar's Historical Sustainability Score. Carbon metrics as at 30 September 2019 | Category: Global Emerging Markets Equity | Based on 89% of AUM | Data is based on long positions only. The portfolio Carbon Risk Score is displayed as a number between 0 and 100 (a lower score is better). A portfolio's Carbon Risk Score is the asset-weighted sum of the carbon risk scores of its holdings, averaged over the trailing 12 months. The carbon risk of a company is Sustainalytics' evaluation of the degree to which a firm's activities and products are aligned with the transition to a low-carbon economy. The assessment includes carbon intensity, fossil fuel involvement, stranded assets exposure, mitigation strategies, and green product solutions. © 2019 Morningstar. All rights reserved.
