Manager Commentary

The fund is up 29.3% year-to-date in Euro terms, outperforming the MSCI World Index by 39 basis points. 28 basis points of performance were lost in November.

The main contributors in November were UnitedHealth, Mastercard and MarketAxess.

UnitedHealth rallied on news that Elizabeth Warren would only seek to introduce a “Medicare for all” system by the end of her third year in office as President and Mike Bloomberg had formally entered the race for the Democratic Party’s nomination for President. Mastercard reported strong Q3 results on the back of 15% organic revenue growth and slightly raised its 2019 guidance. It also benefited from a buoyant technology sector. MarketAxess, the leading electronic bond-trading platform, benefited from the revelation of better-than-expected 37% trading volume and 30% revenue growth in Q3.

The main detractors in November were Booking Holdings, Stryker and Nestle.

Booking Holdings was caught in the downdraft of a 30% one day drop in Expedia’s share price on the announcement of a reduction in its EBITDA growth outlook for 2019 from +12-15% to +5-8%. Booking’s results, reported two days later, were largely in line with expectations. Stryker’s announcement of the $4.7bn acquisition of Wright Medical, one of its largest deals in recent years, met with scepticism from investors. Nestle’s Q3 results were broadly in line with consensus but its shares suffered in line with other consumer stocks in a steepening yield curve environment.
