Manager Commentary

The fund is up 17.40% year-to-date in Euro terms, outperforming the MSCI World by 826 basis points. The fund was up 34 basis points in September, under-performing the index by 5 basis points.

The main contributors in September were Mastercard, Ulta Beauty and Tiffany.

Mastercard has consistently reported double-digit organic revenue growth driven by the secular trend from cash- and cheque-based to electronic payments, PCE growth, and other services. The company is gaining share due to superior solutions that help financial institutions and merchants extract more value. Ulta Beauty gained investor support following news that Kylie Jenner's Kylie Cosmetics will be available in Ulta Beauty stores, exclusively, ahead of the holiday season. The business also starts to lap easier comparable-store sales. Tiffany is starting to reap the benefits from the various initiatives put in place; these include more innovation, edgier marketing, personalisation, and store productivity.

The main detractors in September were Moody's, Yum China and Alphabet.

Moody's measures credit risk and helps clients manage risk. While higher rates may dampen issuance demand, historically other factors have a greater influence such as refinancing needs, economic growth and M&A activity. Yum China rejected a $17.6 billion buyout offer from a consortium led by Chinese investment firm Hillhouse Capital Group. It is believed that the consortium has now ended its interest. Alphabet suffered from a backlash against major technology names. US lawmakers grilled executives over ethics and security issues.
