Manager Commentary

The fund is up 17.89% year to date in Sterling terms, outperforming the MSCI World by 847 basis points. 45 basis points of relative performance were added in August.

The main contributors in August were Mastercard, CME Group and UnitedHealth Group. Mastercard has seen strong investor support throughout 2018. The company has reported two sets of exceptionally strong quarterly results as it gains share through superior solutions and benefits from superior growth in cross border and commercial. CME Group is the world's leading and most diverse derivatives marketplace offering the widest range of future and options products for risk management. The company benefits from increased volatility as it requires greater degrees of hedging and use of derivatives. UnitedHealth Group reported double-digit top line growth at its recent quarterly results driven by both health benefits (increased enrolments) and health services (care management, data analytics). Improvements in net promoter scores, boosted by highly personalised services, bodes well for sustained growth.

The main detractors in August were Intertek, Tiffany and Booking Holdings. Intertek, the testing, inspection, certification and business assurance company reported weaker than expected H1 2018 numbers; one less trading day in May and June impacted the numbers. The company announced the acquisition of Alchemy, an industry leader in People Assurance for the food industry. Tiffany reported a second set of market-beating numbers; same-store sales growth of 7% exceeded consensus expectations of 5.6%. However, management announced a program of higher investments including a complete remodel of the flagship New York City store, which will potentially be disruptive and take 3 years to complete. Booking fell as management announced weaker than expected guidance for Q3 2018; the company citing slowing growth mainly due to the size of the business and consistent with long-term trends. Booking is transitioning its advertising strategy from performance to brand in order to win more customers directly through its websites.
