Manager Commentary

The fund is up 20.07% year-to-date in Sterling terms, outperforming the MSCI World Index by 1005 basis points. The fund was up 4.82% in October, outperforming the index by 178 basis points.

The main contributors in October were FANUC, Intertek and United Health. FANUC is a Japan-based business manufacturing industrial robots and computer numeric controls (CNCs). The company is a beneficiary of the automation and robotics secular trends, but also is at the early stages of connecting CNCs, robots, peripheral devices and sensors to realize optimal manufacturing. Strong IT demand and demand from China resulted in significant upgrades to full year guidance. Intertek is a multinational inspection, product testing and certification company. It also offers quality assurance services, which minimizes risk through assessing the operating process and quality management systems of its customers. Intertek is uniquely placed: companies are increasingly concerned about quality and sustainability of their products as ecommerce grows the market and consumers become more demanding. United Health, the US provider of health benefits and services, rallied on a third upgrade in full year guidance at its recent quarterly announcement.

The main detractors in October were Ulta Beauty, Colgate and Reckitt Benckiser. Sentiment around Ulta, the leading US beauty retailer, continued to suffer over the potential threat of Amazon and department store beauty discounting. This is despite two of its key suppliers, L'Oreal and Estee Lauder, reporting market-beating quarterly numbers. Colgate and Reckitt Benckiser fell as consumer staples were collectively marked down. Both companies are managing through a number of headwinds including retailers demanding better terms, a more fickle consumer and the internet lowering the barriers to entry.

We continue to expect strong organic revenue growth from this portfolio of high quality growth companies to drive double-digit earnings growth per annum over the next five years.
